

Prospective New Century Homes Customer:

We have just completed a major renovation project on our home in Alexandria Virginia and are pleased to offer our unequivocal recommendation for Dave Williams and his wonderful team at New Century Homes.

Our project, a great room addition to a traditional split foyer home, required a very creative design. In addition, our timeframe was short and our budget was limited. We interviewed several firms and received a varied number of design ideas as well as a wild range of prices. The entire process left us uneasy as to how to proceed.

We decided to seek out additional companies to talk to and came across New Century Homes who was doing work in our neighborhood. It was not long after our initial meeting that we entered into an agreement with New Century. We felt the utmost confidence that we had a good design at a fair price. We also had complete trust that the project would be completed on time and on budget.

Our experience was so positive that along the way we made several change orders to our renovation plan- doing additional work to our existing home as well. We negotiated all the change details and pricing and there was always a balanced and honest give and take throughout the process.

We are truly delighted with our experience with New Century Homes and were at the beginning, in the middle, and at the end. We urge you to consider New Century Homes and renovations with any building or renovation needs. Perhaps the best reflection of our satisfaction with the outcome of the project was our willingness to allow New Century Homes to show our home during an annual charitable and marketing event - The Parade of Homes.
